

Ms. Anita Scott Neville

Director, Hayti Reborn Community Action Council

Dear Ms. Scott Neville

Episcopalians United Against Racism (EUAR) is an independent alliance of anti-racist Episcopalians from parishes primarily based in the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina. We are part of a growing movement of community members and people of faith who have devoted ourselves to the long-term, transformative work of creating racially equitable systems and organizations.

EUAR has had the pleasure of hearing the vision for Hayti Reborn several times over the years as part of our Community Roundtable lunch and learn series. The Hayti Reborn proposal is an enormously exciting one, especially at such a critical time in the history of Durham.

Durham's Black community has heard many promises over the years, and continues to hear many more today. However, promises are not the same thing as reality. The Hayti Reborn Project at Fayette Place would be transformative work. EUAR stand with the leaders behind this project which speaks to creating a more racially equitable Durham, and a more racially equitable society.

Sincerely,

DeDreana Freeman and Cathy Rimer-Surles

Co-Conveners, Episcopalians United Against Racism (EUAR)
